Bright Green Gems Reign In Spring 2009 Jewelry Designs

The lush green color of springtime foliage is the leading color in all types of gemstone jewelry this season. Whether rings, pins, necklaces, pendants, or bracelets, green is the happy color you'll soon be seeing a lot of. There is a wide range of green gems to choose from, many surprisingly affordable..

Emerald. The queen of gems, admired since ancient times. No other gem has its glorious, velvety green color resembling fresh spring grass.

Green Tourmaline. Comes in many brilliant shades of green including bright emerald-green. It's hard, glittering, and very affordable.

Chrome Diopside. Has an intense green color that looks a like emerald but is far less expensive. Has a hardness similar to opal.

Green Sapphire. Hard, sparkling, and durable green gem that often has a strong blue influence.

Peridot. A beautifully transparent green gem with a brilliant sparkle. Turns bright green in artificial light.

Green Zircon. Can rival any other transparent green gem at a fraction of the price. Hard, scintillating, and reasonably priced.

Green Garnet. Similar in color to grass-green emerald but hardier, more brilliant, and much less expensive. Has a beautiful sparkling luster.
